ANOTHER DAY'S WAR OPERATIONS.

Petrol and official reports successes in the region of Warsaw, where there has been heavy fighting, and the Carpathians. There have been engagements in the region of the Mlava and on the left bank of the Vistula on the road from Brest-Litovsk, with results favorably to the Russians. Elsewhere all German attacks were repulsed. One on the north of Brest-Litovsk resulted in great loss for the enemy. Elsewhere also attacked the Russians in the Carpathians. On Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 the Russians advanced, fighting along the borders of the Carpathians. On the lower Danube, having crossed the principal ridges of the mountain range, where they took numerous prisoners. German attacks on the north of the Danube were repulsed with enormous loss to the enemy. In these operations Austrian and German troops were engaged. Germany is sacrificing her men with a lavish hand.

Britain is making an extra endeavor to drive the Germans from the Baltic. She is waging a persistent warfare along the sand dunes, assisted by the British monitors and other vessels. She has now collected a fleet of 100 gunners in the work, arming them with light machine guns. These trawlers are able to run in shore, where the water is shallow, and then make the German gun boats get too near the water.

It is reported that four of the principal forces in the Danube delta, the German fleet, the allied forces, and the Young Turks are in a state of funk and apprehension. The Kaiser must have given orders to the German fleet to withdraw from the Baltic. The German fleet is in danger of being crippled by German submarines. It might be to the advantage of Great Britain to have her commerce carried by American bottoms.

We do not expect any international difficulty over the case of the British fleet. The United States Government will not seek to shelter him. He is a criminal, and should be dealt with as such.

HOW ABOUT RECRUITS?

There have been from time to time reports that recruiting was slack in Great Britain, and it was necessary to resort to conscription. In Canada we are told that in the rural districts recruiting is slack. The farmers cannot both go to the front and stay at home to produce more food. Discussing the matter in the House of Lords recently the Lord Chancellor said:

I said before, and I say now, that to the common law of England, the subject of the recruitment of the army is a matter of the utmost importance. It is a thing which the country might, in a national emergency, be called upon to do. It is a thing which the country might, in a national emergency, be called upon to do. It is a thing which the country might, in a national emergency, be called upon to do.

The manager, Mr. S. C. Macdonald, in replying to the vote of thanks to the manager of the company, referred to the growing and increasing volume of assets coming into the company's hands through estates, trusts and other sources. The company was selected with the greatest care. The interest earned on capital was 7.5 per cent, and from the Trust and other sources 17 per cent. The most cordial relations had existed among the legal profession. The services of the company, with every facility for accounting, investment, and other business, were available to the individual executor, all connected themselves to the careful consideration of the company.

The directors took occasion to record, with very great regret, the death, during the year, of Hon. William O'Brien, Senator, the first president of the company, who retired from office at the last annual meeting, continuing as a director. His deep interest in and devotion to the company's affairs contributed largely to its success. The vacancy on the board of directors created by his death has been filled by the election of S. C. Macdonald, Esq., a man of great experience and pleasure in calling attention to the board of directors, which is composed of some of the leading men not only in Hamilton, but in Toronto as well, which is a guarantee of the strength of the company.

LITERAL NOTES

Yesterday's storm just shows what February can do when it tries. Mayor Waiters wants to look after the pennies as well as the pounds. Van Horn, the bridge dynamiter, will likely spend some time in a Canadian penitentiary.

The declaration that all food is contraband will simplify the work of Britain's war vessels.

Hamilton's wire system stood yesterday's storm wonderfully. But those under ground had a cinch.

Seeing that the garbage collecting costs so much more here than in order, investigation might be in order.

With departments boosting their demands for appropriations, we need not look for anything less than 21 million. The twenty mills is now impossible.

The Australian Minister of Defence announces that the commonwealth will continue sending men to the front as long as British needs them. The men are getting on well, and the quality of the men is of the highest quality, who are giving to the new armies a quality of men in this country since the war.

The "National" press has been mistaken on this question of recruiting. It has been misled by statements emanating from the old country, and we have placed in the hands of the men of the front of fighting material in the old land.

MERCANTILE TRUST.

The Mercantile Trust Company of Canada, Limited, is one of Hamilton's young, prosperous and growing financial institutions in which the citizens are so much interested. It has been made possible for Hamiltonians to deal with a first class trust company without going away from home. The seventh annual report of the company presents a state of affairs that is business as usual, and in some respects better than usual. The net profits, after providing for salaries, advertising, and other expenses, and deposit values, commissions paid on loans (covering the full period of interest), and all other expenses of the company amount to $55,712.10, which is added to the $4,161.37 brought forward from 1913, the premium of $40 received from sale of common stock during the year, and the sum of $5,000 set apart from the profits of the year 1913 as a contingent fund, and which has been transferred to the reserve fund of $41,235.25. The sum of $41,235.25, the sum of $5,000 set apart from the profits of the year 1913 as a contingent fund, and which has been transferred to the reserve fund of $41,235.25.

long more active buyers of rails and equipment; the labor market, while still far from normal, reports considerable activity here and there. Some mills and factories have returned to a high, if not full, capacity. The demand for labor has been reduced to work and more thousands may expect to be employed.

Finally, the entire business community is confidently looking forward to a convention of insurance men from all over the country, recently held in New York, marked by real optimism and slight pessimism in every line of business. The general trend is upward and onward.

With departments boosting their demands for appropriations, we need not look for anything less than 21 million. The twenty mills is now impossible.

Before taking action, the Government should send an expert vessel in hydrographic and topographic survey to study the situation. The currents of water are extremely complicated, and very much remains to be learned concerning them. Therefore a Government hydrographic vessel is not so convenient to report upon the subject.

UNITED STATES NEUTRALITY.

To the Editor of the Times: Sir—Intervention by the United States in the present European war, unless in the interests of peace with other neutral powers, would be a very certain reason for the intervention of the United States in the war. The United States is for the most part part and keen-sighted on the present war situation. It is a mixed population of European nationalities, who have come over from Europe to better their condition. To take sides with any of the nations at war is a very undesirable thing. As much as blood being thicker than water, serious internal trouble might ensue from the present European war.

Before entering the war arena, I, S. officials in a Government capacity, army, navy and all detective departments, would send Mrs. Gabb. "Yes," growled Mr. Gabb. "I notice that she's always making a money out of the war."
